

In this issue: Bird identification is as much a challenge and delight for the modern birder as it was for our forebears in earlier generations. Identification challenges are posed by widespread taxa such as goldeneyes (see article, p. 44), dowitchers (p. 34), and Savannah Sparrows (p. 52), as well as by unfamiliar species at the periphery at the ABA Area (p. 26). Cover photograph: Short-billed Dowitcher (race hendersoni). Churchill, Manitoba; June 1996. © Kevin T. Karlson.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Birding

VOL.38 • NO.5 • SEPTEMBER/OCTOBER 2006

Correspondence

- 10 Your Letters
- More on iPods
  - User-friendliness
  - ¡Vamos a la Ventanilla!
- 18 Editorial
The History of Birding:
Part V. 1994–2000
TED FLOYD
- 20 Traditions
Perfecting Their
Skills Afield
Photograph by
RUTH P. EMERY
- 22 News and Notes
PAUL HESS
- Expert Help on ID-Frontiers
  - Major Revision of Gull Taxonomy
  - Birds Face Threat in Oak Woodlands
  - Ovenbirds Nesting in Unusual Habitat

Feature Articles

- 26 Autumn Plumages from the Bering Sea Region, Alaska
PAUL LEHMAN
- 34 Field Identification of North American Dowitchers
CIN-TY LEE AND ANDREW BIRCH
- 44 Variation in Female and Immature Goldeneyes
DOMINIC F. SHERONY
- 52 The Ipswich Sparrow: Past, Present, and Future
IAN A. McLAREN AND ANDREW G. HORN

Departments

- 60 July/August Photo Quiz Answers
Brown Boobies or brown boobies?
STEVE N. G. HOWELL
- 64 Sources
Where are the “Imbuers”?
PAUL J. BAICICH
- 70 Dimensions
Zen Birding
JOHN RAKESTRAW
- 74 Tools of the Trade
New Manfrotto Tripods
DEREK LOVITCH
- 80 Book Reviews
- American Field Guides
GRAHAM ETHERINGTON, reviewer
  - A Birding Obsession
RICK WRIGHT, reviewer
- 96 New Photo Quiz

Ipswich [Savannah] Sparrow. See article, p. 52. Photograph by © Kevin T. Karlson.

